Xmas Interactives

Sean Clark

In 2020 Sean Clark from Interact Digital Arts was asked by Leicester City Council to create a Xmas interactive to run on the large projector in Green Dragon Square. The result was the "Snowflake Wall". This year he has added a new "Santa Puppets" piece that lets you control a giant Santa on the big screen.

As well as being fun things for people to play with while visiting in Leicester city centre, the projects are designed to demonstrate the potential of new technologies. such as the Internet of Things and AI. Both of these are used by Sean Clark in his digital artworks

Artist Bio

Sean Clark is an independent artist, curator, and researcher based in Leicestershire, UK. His artwork explores interaction and connectedness through the construction of audiovisual systems presented on screen, as installations, and as prints. He is the director of Interact Digital Arts and the curator of the Computer Arts Archive. He has a PhD in Computational Art from De Montfort University and in 2016 was co-winner of the Lumen Prize for 3D/Sculpture and the Art.CHI Digital Art Prize.
