Designers refurbishing 11 youth centres

A design agency is working on a contract to refurbish 11 youth centres.

Innersmile, at the LCB Depot in Rutland Street, Leicester, won the deal with Stoke City Council.

It has already revamped four centres and work on another seven centres should be completed by early next year.

The refurbishments were commissioned as part of the Government's Youth Opportunity initiative, working towards getting young people off the streets and into safer environments.

Anoop Randerwala, Innersmile's creative director, said: "What's so rewarding when you work on a project such as this is to see the reaction on the young people's faces and also the appreciation they have for us."

Supporting innovation in the East Midlands

east midlands development agency

The agency, which was established in 2003, specialises in design work involving youth culture and has been at the LCB Depot since the building opened in September 2004.

Companies in the complex were today celebrating the fifth anniversary with a party.
